Introduction

Social networking sites revolutionized the way we do business online since initially being introduced in the mid 1990's.

With instant access to your target audience, and the ability to keep a steady pulse on what our market is currently interested in, it has never been easier to connect with potential buyers and long-term customers.

Social networks provide people with the opportunity to create profiles, blogs and individual pages that reflect their individuality, interests and experiences. It puts people in quick contact with old friends, or helps them make new ones.

When it comes to generating new interest or exposure for your online business, social networks can help you quickly locate potential buyers, connect with authority figures in your niche, expand your outreach and even conduct niche research to determine current buying patterns, trends and overall demand.

There are literally hundreds of social media sites that have sprung up over the last few years, however due to the time involved with engaging and interacting within these communities while establishing credibility in your market in order to build the most effective marketing campaigns, you'll want to focus only on the most established, active social community sites.

This report reveals the top social networking websites where you can build an online presence quickly and easily while subsequently tapping into some of the most profitable niche markets online and location potential joint venture partners and important business contacts.

These community sites will help you to develop brand awareness while maximizing your exposure and outreach.

Facebook

<http://www.Facebook.com>

Facebook surpassed MySpace and became the most popular social network online in 2009.

With Facebook, you can interact with those in your market by adding them as a contact, but you can also generate exposure a number of other ways from within the Facebook community:

1) Create Facebook Advertising Campaigns

Facebook offers its own internal advertising center where you can set up "Adwords style" advertisements that appear whenever specific keywords are entered within the Facebook community.

You can customize your Facebook ads so that they become visible only to potential customers based on gender, age, or even location.

With Facebook advertising, you can pay per click (CPC) or impression (CPM), and can schedule your ads to run for a specific time or on an ongoing basis.

You can create your advertisement by visiting

2) Create Facebook Fan Pages

A free (and effective) method of generating exposure and building a reputation within your niche market is by creating a Facebook fan page. A fan page is similar to creating a new Facebook profile, where you can add notes, messages, download links, and images to your fan page, while managing your fan pages all directly from within your main Facebook account.

One of the greatest benefits of building fan pages is that you can provide potential customers and leads with free samples or downloads of your products, or you can build a list by featuring an opt-in box directly on your Fan page!

Marketing Resources:

When marketing your business with Facebook, there are many different applications available to help you maximize your exposure and maintain your account, including:

MySpace

<http://www.Myspace.com>

MySpace, created in 2003, is a great contender when it comes to being an integral part of every successful social marketing campaign.

MySpace is used by millions of people all over the world who log onto their MySpace pages and browse through related pages and sites featured within the network.

With MySpace, you can quickly create squeeze page style templates, generating interest and fresh exposure to your products and services and can also quickly locate potential partners, joint venture offers and others interested in your niche market.

In order to create a memorable MySpace page, consider customizing the design and layout.

There is a free service available at <http://www.Wix.com> that will help you develop attractive, flash based MySpace pages quickly and easily.

Ning

<http://www.Ning.com>

Ning, launched in 2005, offers people with the opportunity to create their own social network. In addition, you can browse through thousands of social communities and join those that relate to your niche market.

You can customize your social network with a unique blend of design customizations and layout ideas.

You can take things a step further by developing surveys, polls and allowing those who join your network to respond to profile questions, open conversations and threads.

If you develop your own social network within Ning, you will be given a unique

URL that you can give to your customers, peers and associates.

You can also enhance your network by adding in modules through a simple 'drag & drop' system, and best of all, users only require one login to access all of the social networks and communities they become a member of from within Ning.

Twitter

<http://www.Twitter.com>

Twitter took the online business arena by storm when it quickly grew in popularity attracting millions of users who can choose to 'follow' updates from those they are interested in.

Twitter offers a flexible API system that allows third party developers to create Twitter plugins and applications that enhance their accounts overall functionality.

One of these services is found at <http://www.SocialOomph.com> where you can set up automatic greeting messages that thank those who follow you for becoming a contact, while being able to promote a squeeze page, incentive offer or gift of some kind.

This is a great way to quickly build a list in your niche market, while establishing a relationship with those who choose to follow your updates and public timeline.

With Twitter, you can quickly build a profile that features your website URL and photo, while integrating keywords within your bio field to attract visitors to your page whenever similar keywords are entered in Twitter's built in search engine.

One thing to keep in mind when using Twitter as a marketing channel is that the more interactive you are, the more exposure you'll receive.

Every post you submit through your Twitter account will go out to everyone who follows you. In addition, your posts will be archived within your main profile page so that new followers can browse through previous updates.

Twitter is an incredibly useful tool when conducting niche research or testing the viability of a market.

From newspapers to television stations, Twitter has become an easy way to post instant news and alerts, and as an online entrepreneur, you can utilize this information to determine what your target market is consistently responding to and interested in by following those who are established within your market or industry and keeping an eye on their current broadcasts and launch announcements.

Linkedin

<http://www.Linkedin.com>

Linked in is a business oriented social community where you can invite people to become part of your connections and well as quickly locate relevant leads and business contacts by importing contacts from your email accounts and external social community lists.

One of the greatest aspects of creating a Linkedin account is in being able to generate organic traffic to your site from the major search engines.

Website links featured on your Linkedin profile page will quickly rank within the search engines and by modifying existing labels and tabs to feature relevant keywords relating to your niche market, you will be able to quickly optimize your Linkedin account and boost your search engine ranking!

Linkedin is also helpful in promoting your blog's RSS feed by connecting your Linkedin account with external blog sites, including Bloglink, Blogger, Live Journal, Movable Type, Vox and Wordpress.com

Conclusion

So there you have it, the top social community sites where you can quickly build an online presence and generate massive exposure for your online business.

Spend some time creating your social networking accounts and post frequent updates to retain your following base and establish contacts and leads through your broadcasts and interaction.

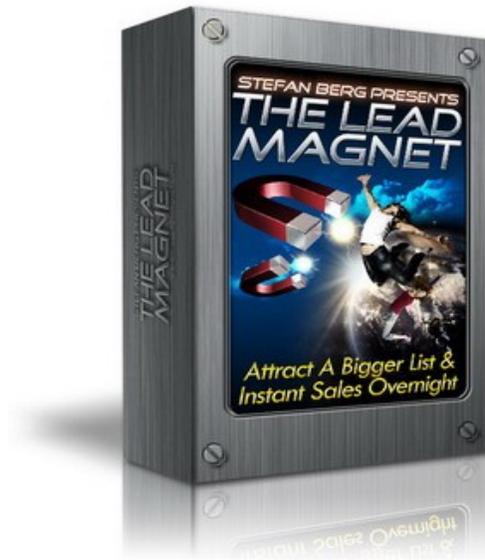

These are just a Few of all Social networking places. But you will see it is a Great way of connection with other people and to Brand your name. Take care of your new networking friends and they will start following you as a person to be trusted.
